NAMED SPALDING.

The Peoria (Ill.) Bishop Selected for Co-adjutor of This Archdiocese.

WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY THE PROVINCIAL COUNCIL OF SUFFRAGAN BISHOPS.

All the suffragans but one said to have favored the learned and eloquent Illinois prelate—Bishop Burke transferred to St. Joseph—The Sunday School Union—Religious News.

Archbishop Kenrick and his suffragan bishops did not issue an abstract of the proceedings of their council yesterday, but as there is scarcely more mystery about what they did than if they had done so, the bishops were bound to secrecy "for prudential reasons," as they would it, but they were closely watched by the members of the clergy with whom they are on terms of intimacy, and the consequence is a pretty accurate notion of what the Provincial Council did. The Archbishop and his suffragans first of all chose the candidates for the coadjutorship. They took three ballots successively for the first, second and third on the list. The first ballot resulted in the choice of Rt. Rev. John Lancaster Spalding, Bishop of Peoria, Ill. He received the votes of all the suffragans, but not the vote of the Archbishop who remained to his first and last choice, Vice-General Brady. But he did not insist on Fr. Brady. On the contrary, several of the suffragan bishops have said that he urged the claims of his candidate with less vigor than either of the bishops displayed in their pleas for Spalding. And this is the most remarkable incident of the council. The aged but mighty-minded prelate who has been faithful to the stern and menacing motto on his escutcheon, "Do not irritate the lion," submitted meekly, it is claimed, to defeat and did not, as had been predicted, send the suffragan bishops with a scolding for not conforming blindly to his wishes as they have done on all his occasions. Why the Archbishop acted so mildly when successfully opposed by his suffragans has not been shown none of that old-time spirit which once led him to defy the thunders of Rome, is a very remarkable and utterly unexpected event. It has been suggested that his conduct is a sign of the times, and that when the lion will abide in peace with the lamb, but the pretty fable is refuted with smiles. The generally expressed opinion is that the Archbishop saw that every one of his suffragans, with the possible exception of Bishop Hogan, was against him, and that he deemed it the better part of his lionlike valor to be prudent and submit. But this explanation either does not explain or it implies a mighty change in the man who combated the Pope, and who once believed in the infallibility of the Pope. But the bishops all agree that the council was harmonious, and no further proof of the Archbishop's submission is needed. The selection of Bishop Spalding for the place is beyond doubt. Everyone of the suffragan bishops who attended the council declared for him. The Archbishop, before the session began, Bishop Hogan, for some priests to have been for Fr. Brady, but Bishop Hogan, who held Bishop Pink's proxy, is said to have cast two votes for Spalding and the Peoria prelate therefore received 7 out of 9 votes. Moreover two weeks ago, a caucus of the eastern Roman Catholic bishops was held at Omaha to organize a mutual insurance company. All the Roman Catholic Churches, from the smallest to the largest, are now insured. The second and third candidates on the coadjutorship list are not known as certainly as the first. The second is Bishop J. J. Keane of Wheeling, W. Va. The third candidate was, it can be positively stated, Rt. Rev. J. S. Chastard of Vincennes, Ind. The second task of the council was the discussion of the petition for a transfer submitted by St. Rev. M. F. Burke of Cheyenne, Wyo. Bishop Burke's prayer was answered. His suffragan bishops were divided. Bishop Burke's diocese that it contained five priests and a lame squaw. He himself has said time and again that the see could not support a bishop. He once applied to Archbishop Kenrick for a transfer, and the Archbishop, after the Jefferson Avenue German Mission, in South St. Louis; the Broadway Mission, at Broadway and Poplar street; the Taylor Avenue Mission, the Tower Grove Mission, and the Maplewood Mission. This field of work was divided by the Rev. A. J. Colwell, John Mare, Sr., and John Mare, Jr., and W. A. Matthews. In addition to the city of St. Louis, the archbishop will assist the church at St. Charles and six churches in St. Louis and Franklin Counties.

sonal appeal to each of the suffragans, and even Bishop Bonomus said a few days ago that Bishop Burke would be removed to St. Joseph, Mo. But it is said that the old Archbishop cares very little for Bishop Burke, and would prefer to have him out of this archdiocese. This end it is reported, was obtained yesterday, when it was decided to make Bonomus an archbishopal see, and to appoint Bishop Burke to the new diocese of Sioux City, Io. Thus Bishop Burke would be gratified to leave Cheyenne, and Archbishop Kenrick would be pleased to have Bishop Burke out of the St. Louis province. The Archbishop and all his suffragans were in favor of elevating Bishop John J. Hennessy of Dubuque, Io., to the archbishopal city and the new province would have for suffragans the dioceses of Omaha, Neb., Lincoln, Neb., Davenport, Io., and Sioux City, Io. The same well authenticated report which stated Bishop Burke for Sioux City, Io., named Archbishop Brady as the first candidate for the see of St. Joseph because the Archbishop was very anxious to obtain a "split hat," or a miter for his Vice-General and the suffragans made no objection for in this office he would not have the superiority over them which is a part of the powers of the coadjutor to the Archbishop. All the bishops will leave the city to-day.

Protest Against Bishop Bonomus.
The old proverb truth, "uneasy rests the head that wears a crown," might be applied equally well to the wearer of a mitre, for at least one bishop who attended the provincial council yesterday has had as many troubles as some of the monarchs. The prelate is Bishop Thomas Bonomus of Lincoln, Neb. When he arrived in St. Louis a few days ago, he was met by his oldest priests had already drawn up a strongly worded indictment against him, and forwarded it to Archbishop Kenrick. The priests impeach Bishop Bonomus on a series of very grave charges, and they ask the papal obedience to the relief, either by a removal of their ordinary or by dissolving him. The charges are very specific and are formulated in a very voluminous type-written document. But they are not learned in detail, although they amount to a startling arraignment of Bishop Bonomus for misgovernment. Among the complaints is Rev. Fr. M. M. M. who was prosecuted before an ecclesiastical court about a year ago, by Bishop Bonomus. Bishop Bonomus of Omaha was the judge, and he ruled the case out of court. Rev. Fr. Phelan of this city was a prominent attorney, and he made a response to a toast which was a heap of well worded platitudes to the uninitiated, but to the knowing ones was a scolding for not conforming blindly to his wishes as they have done on all his occasions. Why the Archbishop acted so mildly when successfully opposed by his suffragans has not been shown none of that old-time spirit which once led him to defy the thunders of Rome, is a very remarkable and utterly unexpected event. It has been suggested that his conduct is a sign of the times, and that when the lion will abide in peace with the lamb, but the pretty fable is refuted with smiles. Dooley spent part of his last vacation in this city, where he made many friends.

St. Louis Sunday-School Union.
The St. Louis Sunday-school Union will hold a special meeting for the election of officers for the coming year, at the first Christian Church, Locust street, near Compton avenue, next Monday evening, Dec. 19. The present officers are: A. C. Stewart, President; H. Brinsmade, P. M. Hanson, Vice-President; J. J. McMane, Recording Secretary; Elmer E. Lacey, Corresponding Secretary; G. H. Ten Broeck, Treasurer; L. T. Lindsay, Musical Director; R. M. Scruggs, W. H. McClain, D. R. Wolfe, M. Greenwood, Jr., Wm. Handolph, E. V. P. Ritter, Executive Board. The election for 1893 is set for a special meeting next Monday instead of for the regular meeting in January, as is the rule because the members of the union deemed it unwise to hold an election during the process of the great revival in January. If the election is over with before the revival begins the union can give the last session of the convention to the revival. The union will hold a mass-meeting on the first Monday in February to arrange for the international Sunday-school convention, which will be held in St. Louis in the latter part of August and the early part of September, 1893.

Baptist Board of Missions.
The Board of Missions of the St. Louis Baptist Association has this week completed its plans for evangelization work during the coming year. In this city the board will look after the Jefferson Avenue German Mission, in South St. Louis; the Broadway Mission, at Broadway and Poplar street; the Taylor Avenue Mission, the Tower Grove Mission, and the Maplewood Mission. This field of work was divided by the Rev. A. J. Colwell, John Mare, Sr., and John Mare, Jr., and W. A. Matthews. In addition to the city of St. Louis, the archbishop will assist the church at St. Charles and six churches in St. Louis and Franklin Counties.

Rev. Joshua Hickman, J. Reid and a third missionary yet to be appointed, will have charge of this country work. The board extended its labors when it assumed the care of the churches in Franklin County and at St. Charles, and the members expect to make the coming year the most successful in the history of the board as a missionary body. The board will use $6,000 in actual work outside of routine expenditures.

Taber, Captain of Engineers, First Vice-President and General Manager of the Little Rock and Memphis Railroad, says that the accident is a serious one, that it will practically stop government work on the river, and is likely to cause two or more complaints to be entered under the new law. BIG DAMAGE SUIT.

Ex-Senator Ferry and Others After a Railroad Company.
CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—Ex-Senator Thomas W. Ferry of Michigan, Hiram V. Reed and Allen L. Fowler have entered suit in the Circuit Court to recover $300,000 damages against the Grand River Railroad Co. and J. W. Boynton, its President. Messrs. Reed and Fowler are dealers in real estate and railroad investments. The railroad is in progress of construction between Grand Haven and Grand Rapids, Mich. It is said that ex-Senator Ferry has sold the $300,000 of bonds of the railroad which he assigned to Messrs. Reed and Fowler. This option has not yet expired and the Chicago brokers claim to have secured a purchaser in an experienced engineer who represents considerable English capital. After accomplishing everything but the formal sale, it is alleged that President Boynton broke the contract by preventing the sale. It was a question whether Reed and Fowler were to sue ex-Senator Ferry or whether he would join them in this suit. He decided to pursue the latter course. This option commission sought amounts to $270,000. This commission consists of stocks and bonds in the road and branch of contract is said to have taken place yesterday.

CERTAIN ADVERTISEMENTS FROM TRADE MITHAL who fear the phenomenal success of Van Houten's Cocoa
In America, contains thousands of testimonials, and appeal to the authority of
Dr. SYDNEY HINGER, Prof. of Medicine at University College, London. Author of the book "Van Houten's Cocoa," who actually writes as follows: "From the earliest time I saw of Prof. HINGER and others I am satisfied that Van Houten's Cocoa is in no way injurious to health, and is in fact a most valuable food and tonic. It is certainly 'pure' and highly digestible. The questions in certain advertisements from my book on Therapeutics are quite misleading, and cannot possibly apply to the very authentic and reliable Van Houten's Cocoa. I am therefore, I repeat, and with the very authority due to me, that I hereby beg to give it a very handsome testimonial."

Candidates Assembled.
Judge James Gibson of Kansas City, J. B. Breathitt of Maryland, Judge J. D. Fox of Madison County, Robert Losier of the State Committee, Chas. F. Rowland, candidate for Chief Clerk of the House; Sid F. Ray, candidate for Assistant Chief Clerk, and Capt. Frank L. Pitts of Monroe County, a prospective candidate for United States Marshal of the Eastern District of Missouri, were at the Laclede this morning talking over the political situation. Mr. Breathitt wants to be United States Marshal for the Western District of Missouri and as yet has no opposition. In the Eastern District Capt. Pitts, if he concludes to make the race, will have as running mate W. F. Dore of Kalls County. As Capt. Pitts is laying his lines for State Treasurer five years hence he has not as yet fully determined to make the race for United States Marshal. Mr. John W. Over of Montgomery County will make the race for Chief Clerk against Chas. F. Rowland, while Gilmore Gilbreath of Pettis County has announced himself to succeed Mr. Rowland as Assistant Chief Clerk, and will consequently make the race against Sid F. Ray of St. Louis. C. F. Fogle of Schuyler County announces that he will not be in the race for Speaker of the House, which diminishes the list of candidates down

The Countess of Aberdeen

Is regarded in England as the woman who, with a retinue of eighty servants in her household, has come closest to the solution of the servant-girl problem. During 1893, Lady Aberdeen will, in an article entitled to be printed in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL, tell of her methods of treating and retaining her domestic help.

How I Keep My Servants

The Rabbi Ate Pork.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The Rev. Heyman Rosenberg, rabbi in charge of Temple Beth Jacob in Kamp street, near South Fourth street, Williamsburg, was expelled at a meeting of the congregation Wednesday evening, after having been convicted of violating a rule of the orthodox Jewish religion by eating pork. Rabbi Rosenberg did not attend the meeting, and the vote to dismiss him was practically unanimous. The session was an animated one, for the accused rabbi was warmly defended by Louis Jackson and Louis Fayer, both of whom are influential members of the congregation. President Lewis Schwartzman, who presided at the meeting, was the principal witness against him. The evidence showed Rabbi Rosenberg had attended the opening of a saloon on North Second street on Thursday last, and had so far forgotten himself as to eat a plate of beef hash that was temptingly displayed before him. President Schwartzman was likewise among the guests and he watched the rabbi eat the hash but said nothing. The following day the charges against the clergyman were regularly drawn up and the rabbi was advised by friends to make no response.

Two Heroes.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 16.—Passengers that arrived from Pittsburgh last night on the Keystone State, tell how a heroic engineer saved the boat and passengers from destruction by fire. It was near Bridgeport, O., when an Italian deck passenger in his sleep kicked over a coal oil lamp among the inflammable freight. The boat was turned ashore, and passengers were hustled out on the icy bank. This was made possible by a plucky engineer and a deaf and dumb man. The latter held the hose to the flames and, at the peril of his life, and with a painful injury to his body, rushed through the flames and set the force pump to working. By the energy and pluck of these two heroes a disaster was averted.

To Tax Bequests.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—State Comptroller Frank Campbell will recommend in his forthcoming report some amendments to the collateral inheritance law. He believes that hereafter all estates should pay 1 per cent on bequests over $10,000 and under $100,000; 2 per cent on amounts between $100,000 and $500,000; 3 per cent on amounts between $500,000 and $1,000,000; 4 per cent on amounts exceeding $1,000,000. Campbell's argument is that during their lifetimes, millionaires evade payment of a just personal tax and the proposed amendments would enable the state to tax the fortunes equitably at least once in a generation.

Another Consolidation.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Stockholders of the Linsseed Oil Co. have been notified that their property is being appraised for the purpose of reaching a basis of consolidation with the National Lead Co. The scheme for the consolidation of the company will be officially announced Jan. 4, 1893.

A Dangerous Deadlock

Occurs when the slave-like action of the kidneys is interrupted, and they partially cease to secrete from the blood those impurities for the escape of which they are such important channels. Bright's disease, diabetes, suppression of the urine, and weakness and inaction of the bladder—these are complaints to the relief of which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is admirably adapted. These ailments unchecked are very formidable, and the utility of a recourse to this fine remedy and preventive cannot be pleaded with too much insistence. The Bitters is likewise efficacious in all cases of indigestion, rheumatism, and debility. In neuropathia it has also proved itself a sovereign medium of relief.

OPPOSING SATOLLI.

Catholic Bishops United Against the Papal Emisary.

DENIAL THAT HIS EDUCATIONAL PLAN WAS ACCEPTED.

Reports of the Conference of Archbishops in Baltimore Misleading—The Holy See Not Well Informed of the Wishes and Needs of the Church in America—Religious News.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 16.—Catholic officials claim the published reports give a misleading summary of the authorized abstract of the proceedings of the recent meeting of the Catholic archbishops. Some of the most important parts of the summary are omitted altogether. After Archbishop Satolli had stated that the Pope desired to have a permanent apostolic delegation established in the United States with the concurrence of the archbishops, the official proceedings state that he was informed at the third session on Nov. 17 that the metropolitans did not feel warranted in taking any action in so important a matter until they had taken counsel with their suffragans in view of serious difficulties connected with the subject.

"It is well known," the cardinals and all the bishops are now, and have been all along, very much opposed to any such papal official being sent here," says an authority on Catholic affairs, "and it is not likely that Rome will disregard their protest. The official report of the meeting read his fourteenth proposition on the school question, the archbishops adopted the two resolutions of Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, which substantially reaffirmed the decree of the Baltimore Council on that issue. Nowhere does the official report say that they approved of the fourteen propositions. They requested changes in them, which were made and at the last session of the council, Mgr. Satolli gave further explanations, and promised to send documents amended to the prelates. But there is not one word about the acceptance of Mgr. Satolli's document; on the contrary, all the private reports being that the archbishops rejected it."

Archbishop Ryan's organ, the Philadelphia Catholic Standard speaking yesterday of the conference, said in an editorial entitled "Attempting to Mislead the Public," as follows:

"As had been anticipated, the subject of Christian education came up. Mgr. Satolli presented a series of fourteen propositions on the subject. But prior to deliberating on them the archbishops preferred to consider the reports which they themselves had drawn up in accordance with instructions of the holy see, and after consultation with their respective suffragans. They unanimously adopted two resolutions, offered by the Most Rev. Archbishop of Philadelphia, which resolutions plainly themselves fairly and squarely upon the decrees of the plenary councils of Baltimore. They refer definitely to these decrees and contain specific directions for giving more practical effect to these decrees."

Since the New York meeting Archbishop Corrigan wrote as follows in a letter dated Nov. 27 to Fr. Doyle, the Paulist, commenting on the article that had appeared in the Catholic World: "The facts which you present so clearly and so convincingly furnish a new proof—if there were needed of the insufficiency of merely secular education. The experience of England, Australia, France and Italy is a counterproof of our own."

BLAINE'S RELIGIOUS VIEWS.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 16.—A resident of this city who has been an intimate friend of the Blaine family for years, speaking of Mr. Blaine's religious views, said that he considered that the great statesman was a congregationalist, which was Mrs. Blaine's creed. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Blaine were regular church-goers, but whenever they did go it was, as a rule, to a church of that denomination. When Mr. Blaine was at Bay Harbor, he went to the Congregational Church, and while at Washington he did the same. Miss Hattie Blaine, the unmarried daughter, and Mrs. Walter Hartsough, the friend says, are regular attendants at the Episcopal Church, and Mrs. McCormack is a strict Presbyterian while Mrs. Blaine is a Catholic. "Furthermore, I have been in every room of the Blaine household, and I have never seen a thing that would suggest to me that Mr. Blaine is a Roman Catholic. There is not a crucifix or any other Catholic symbol in the house."

THE M'GLYNN CASE.

ROME, Dec. 16.—The statement of Archbishop Corrigan, published in a New York paper in September last, in regard to the settlement of the differences between the church and Rev. Fr. McGlynn, has received full confirmation at the Vatican. The news of the reconciliation has produced the deepest impression at the Vatican, where Fr. McGlynn had always been a favorite prior to his difference with his religious superiors. It can be stated on the highest authority that the Pope has given special dispensation at the Vatican, his Holiness' legate in America, to settle the case. The latest reports received at the Vatican from America have caused surprise and vexation at the opposition that has commenced against the results of the conference recently held in New York and the proposition of reconciliation. The Pope's legate, Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, and Cardinal Ledochowski, Prefect of the Propaganda Fide, express displeasure at the course church leaders are taking in America, and his holiness will shortly take decisive action to bring the divisions to an end. The Pope will shortly send to the Italian legation the decree of a circular letter denouncing Fr. McGlynn. His holiness will declare that the Free Masons are pursuing the satanic aim of replacing Christianity by naturalism.

ROBSON AT THE GRAND. A Fine Performance of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer." Last night at the Grand opera-house Stuart Robson and his company appeared in Goldsmith's famous comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer." Mr. Robson took the character of Tony Lumpkin and gave a rather novel rendition of it. In his hands Tony Lumpkin was rather the dull-witted, ignorant, good-natured fool, with occasional flashes of intelligence, than the malicious, unlicked cub. How a youth so destitute of brains as Mr. Robson's Tony Lumpkin, and so overgrowing with good nature, could have conceived the bright and exasperatingly mischievous schemes by which he tortured nearly every one who came in contact with him, is difficult for the audience to comprehend. But Mr. Robson's bearing as the ill-bred, spoiled country boy was admirable, and the tavern scene was admirable. Mr. George S. Woodward was a most excellent Hardcastle, depicting the choleric gentleman, whose sense of the duties of hospitality struggled with his strong desire to resent impertinence, in a most life-like manner. Mr. W. H. Edwards' fine figure and handsome face showed to great advantage in the character of young Harlowe. His acting throughout was forceful, but in the scene with Miss Hardcastle his empassioned protest against the conduct of a country yokel than that of a well-bred gentleman. As Hastings J. J. Farrell filled all the requirements of the part, his love-making being particularly attractive. The part of Miss Hardcastle was performed by Mrs. Robson. She was dignified rather than piquante, but in the graver parts of her role was very strong. Miss Madeline Burton made a charming Miss Neville. Her acting was characterized by rare taste and discrimination, and her mock love making to Tony delighted the audience. Mrs. Gabriella McKenney was very amusing as Mrs. Hardcastle, portraying the would-be fashionable lady and the foolishly doting mother in a manner that was strong. Miss Madeline Burton's "She Stoops to Conquer" will be repeated. On Saturday night "The Heiress" will be substituted.
